

« Mapping it out

Whether you'd like to unwind in an Ecuadorian forest or go music festival hopping in Europe, let Handmade Journeys plan it for you. Started by travel writers Friyan Driver and Alisha Wadia, this experiential travel company is known to curate customised itineraries for every kind of traveller. Email: friyan@handmadejourneys.com

BUZZ
HOW TO LIVE IT UP THIS SEPTEMBER

99 REASONS WHY

A design-minded space, Bungalow 99 is the kind of hotel that could as well be a home. Designed by Frenchman Pio Coffrant of The Rose Studio, this boutique hotel in Delhi offers guests a well-stocked library, concierge on demand, and tailormade meals. Bungalow99.com

Guests at Bungalow 99 can choose from room and apartment options

STATE OF ART

From dinner plates to office desks, our fascination with India takes new shape

▲ NEST
Arpit Agarwal travelled across India but did not find enough paraphernalia from the north east. So the Guwahati-based designer decided to fill the gap himself. His brand NEst features stationery, totes, jewellery and planters bearing motifs from this untapped region. Email: nestbyarpitagarwal@gmail.com

► BONG HAAT
A one-stop shop for all things Bengali, this website stocks furniture pieces as well as decor items and even the famous sandesh from Balaram Mullick and ingredients like gondhoraj lebu (Bengali lemons). Bonghaat.com

FROM INDIA, WITH LOVE

Two cookbooks take Indian food to a global audience

Dosa Kitchen
The next best thing to visiting the Vermont-based food truck for dosas is making your own version. From hybrid recipes like vindaloo dosa to modern takes like cream cheese-lox dosa, this cookbook has it all.

Indian Cookery
Three decades after it first released, Sameen Rushdie's cult book brings recipes from the Rushdie household to the table. This one comes with a foreword by Salman Rushdie. ■

